Indonesia, with its geographical location and geological structure, is identified as vulnerable to a range of natural disasters. The nation, which is located on the Pacific Ring of Fire, is prone and has encountered with constant risk of disasters.

EDRR Indonesia is a leading emergency and disaster reduction and rescue expo, focusing in all aspects of disaster response and emergency preparedness, including earthquakes, floods, tsunamis, volcanic eruptions, land slides, forest fire, public order, large industrial sites and public work spaces, pollutions, storms, transport safety, accidents and more.

With Indonesia's position in both the Ring of Fire and Alpeide Belt, it ensures the mitigation of the threats in Indonesia faces can only be met by trained, well equipped reaction forces.

At EDRR Indonesia, government agencies, security services, first responders, NGOs, environmental specialists, and industry leaders converge to enhance their training, exchange best practices, and showcase the latest innovations in disaster management. The event serves as a central platform for thought leadership, training, and networking, empowering participants to better protect lives and critical infrastructure.

Against the backdrop of Indonesia's pivotal role in regional and global affairs, EDRR Indonesia holds significant promise for fostering cooperation and exchange. The expo provides an unparalleled opportunity to deepen ties with political and business leaders, driving all-round cooperation for Asian countries.

Join us at EDRR Indonesia to shape the future of disaster response, forge invaluable connections, and drive positive change for Indonesia and beyond. Together, we can build a safer, more resilient world for generations to come.
